Mother, Five Children Die in Green Bay Fire

Claim Major Role in Coup

U. S. Warned by Buddhists Not to Interfere in Politics

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Exuding confidence after playing a major role in the downfall of three governments, South Viet Nam's militant Buddhists appeared today to be riding on a new crest of power.

Reliable sources said that the Buddhists have made it clear they want the United States to refrain from interfering in their political affairs.

The warning reportedly came from Thich Tri Quang, 42, a popular monk from central Viet Nam who met Friday with strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh. Tri Quang led the eight-day Buddhist hunger strike in Saigon that helped force out premier Tran Van Huong in a bloodless military coup.

U.S. officials were reported fearful that the Buddhists would continue to play a militant political role and try to bring down future governments if their demands are not met.

The Buddhists had charged Huong with oppressive measures. They leveled the same accusation against Khanh last September and against the late Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963, before their governments fell.

U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor talked with Khanh for more than an hour Friday in their first meeting since Khanh regained power Wednesday and made Harvard-educated Nguyen Xuan Xanh acting premier. A U.S. Mission spokesman said relations between Taylor and Khanh, who have been openly at odds in recent weeks, were normal.

Military Rule

Khanh's restoration of military rule put U.S. authorities on the spot. Washington had hoped that at least a facade of civilian rule could be maintained. Khanh insisted the military seizure was necessary to end the Buddhists' antigovernment disorders.

Military Rule

Khanh said, however, that he intended to operate as far as possible within the legal framework of civilian government and retain plans for an early selection of a national assembly to draw up a constitution.

Viet Nam press reports said today that candidates who wish to take part in March 21 elections for Viet Nam's national congress must file applications by Feb. 18.

Frol R. Kozlov, a former first deputy premier of Russia, is dead, according to reports of the Soviet news agency, Tass. Kozlov, who visited the United States in 1959, had been considered the No. 2 man under Khrushchev. He was removed from his post last year, apparently because of failing health due to a stroke about two years ago. (AP Wirephoto)

Walkout at Cape Ended After 2 Days

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A two-day walkout of 3,800 building and construction trades workers which stalled $201 million worth of top-priority construction here has ended with assurance that their grievances will be heard by the President's missile sites labor commission.

The workers, caught in a jurisdictional dispute between two unions, are expected back on their jobs Monday. The walkout paralyzed work on 45 projects at the nation's space port.

The break came late Friday when the commission announced in Washington that it had assumed jurisdiction in the dispute. Executive Secretary Julie E. Kucom said a hearing would be held within two weeks and urged the union men to return to their jobs.

Union leaders at Cape Kennedy said they were telling their men to end the walkout.

Gene Kagerbauer Leaps To Ground From Second Floor Window, Survives

GREEN BAY — A mother and her five children died today in a fire that swept a home on Green Bay's west side in a temperature of 17 degrees below zero. The father escaped by jumping through a window on the second floor of the house at 993 Shawano Ave.

Dead are Mrs. Claudia Kagerbauer and her children Kim, 2; Michelle, 4; Paul, 5; Christine, 6; and Julie, 7. The father, 28-year-old Eugene Kagerbauer, is reported in good condition at St. Mary's Hospital suffering from cuts and shock.

The other six victims were all rushed by ambulance to the St. Mary's burn center, but were pronounced dead on arrival. Death was from smoke inhalation and not from burns, according to hospital authorities.

Military Rule

Khanh said, however, that he intended to operate as far as possible within the legal framework of civilian government and retain plans for an early selection of a national assembly to draw up a constitution.

Viet Nam press reports said today that candidates who wish to take part in March 21 elections for Viet Nam's national congress must file applications by Feb. 18.

Bitter Cold Continues to Grip Fox Cities

Fox Cities area residents will have to continue shivering and shaking as no relief is in sight from the icy blast which has withered the Upper Midwest.

Today's maximum is expected to be three degrees below zero with a minus 17 predicted for tonight for the vicinity.

Locally, winds are out of the west at 12 miles an hour. The barometer is holding steady at 29.96. We have six inches of snow on the ground.

face down in a small bedroom closet.

Fire officials have not been able to determine the cause of the fire which completely gutted the inside of the home. Firemen were still fighting scattered smoldering flames two hours after the fire call. The home was reportedly heated by a coal furnace.

The six deaths make the frosty early-morning tragedy the worst fire in Green Bay's history.

Green Bay police said they could hear the father screaming for help while they were still several blocks away. He was taken immediately to St. Mary Hospital.

Traffic was blocked on Shawano Avenue for two blocks in front of West High School, and cars were rerouted through side streets. Several minor traffic tangles occurred when large trucks were turned onto the side street.

Witnesses at the scene repeatedly referred to the tragedy as an "inferno" and one firefighter said the flames spread so quickly "you couldn't believe it." Strong northwest winds fanned the blaze.

When firemen first arrived on the scene, they didn't know how many persons were trapped in the home. When the victims were discovered, a call went out for all available rescue squad and ambulance units in the city to report to the scene.

The man, who declined to be identified, said he also saw Eugene Kagerbauer climb through a broken upstairs window, cut and bleeding and wearing only underwear, and call to him to report the fire. When the man returned to the scene, he said the house had "exploded" in flames.

Fire fighting units from all Green Bay stations responded to the call, and all available rescue squad units and private ambulances were rushed to the scene.

Intense Flames

When firemen arrived at the scene, intense flames pouring from the front of the house prevented their entrance. They finally managed to break in through some windows in the rear of the house and began fighting the blaze. Firemen were also hampered by bitter cold temperatures that registered 17 degrees below zero at the time the fire was reported.

When firemen were able to battle their way to the second floor, they found Mrs. Kagerbauer and the five children in their bedrooms. Three of the youngsters were still in their beds, while the other two lay tangled in their blankets on the floor.

Government in Exile Planned

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Plans to form a Cuban government in exile proceeded today after a 46,108-ballot verdict in favor of such action in an exile plebiscite.

That is more than half Miami's exile population.

Cubans balloted a few days after the capture of guerrilla leader Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo by Fidel Castro forces in Cuba. Menoyo's organization, the Revolutionary Alliance, favors "a government in arms" rather than one in exile.

To Seek Understanding

Wilson and De Gaulle Plan Meeting in Paris

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson and President Charles de Gaulle, brought together by Sir Winston Churchill's funeral, have agreed to meet soon in Paris.

Associates of Wilson reported the agreement after the two world leaders held a 50-minute meeting Friday at the French Embassy. The informants said the two-nation summit would be held either in late February or early March.

Privately, French sources expressed belief that the informal meeting between Wilson and De Gaulle on the eve of Churchill's funeral had at least a variety of subjects that included the financial crisis in the United Nations.

Wilson plans to visit the United States next month for a second meeting with President Johnson. The prime minister conferred with the President in Washington last month on problems in the Atlantic Alliance.

Easier Future

"The way toward a better understanding was achieved," said one French source, "and the way to an easier future in relations was opened by the talks."

The talks were described officially by both British and French sources as useful and friendly. However, observers said that there would be no easy solutions to the problems that have brought relations between the two nations to a low point.

At the heart of the dispute remains De Gaulle's concept that a united Europe must be free of U.S. influence. France steadfastly has opposed the U.S.-sponsored Multilateral Force.

Weekend Weather To be Fair, Cold

Fox Cities — Fair and cold. High near zero. Partly cloudy and not quite so cold tonight; low near -10 degrees Sunday, generally fair and not quite so cold, high near 5 degrees. Northwesterly winds 10-15 mph today and tonight.

Appleton — Observations at 10 a.m. today. Temperatures for the 24 hours: High, 3; Low, -17; wind 14 mph out of the west. Barometer: 29.96 and steady. Snow on ground, 6 inches. Clear skies.

Sun sets at 5:00 p.m., rises Sunday at 7:15 a.m.

I showed Howard your letter and he agreed to see our family doctor. I guess he was shocked that I had written to you. Also he was surprised you answered. He said he didn't think you'd bother.

South could afford to bid game even though he had only 7 points in high cards. He knew that his partner had 16 to 18 points, with balanced distribution. The combined strength might be a point or two short of the 26 points usually needed for game, but South's six-card suit would make up for a point or two.

Even after bidding the hand properly South still had to find the right line of play. He could not afford to try the club finesse at the first trick. East would gladly win with the king of clubs, cash two high diamonds, and give West a diamond ruff.

Reuses Finesse
South can virtually assure the contract by playing dummy's ace of clubs at the first trick. The best play at the second trick is the ace of hearts since South cannot afford to try a heart finesse. If the king of hearts happens to fall on the ace, South will have an easy time.

The heart king does not fall, but South runs three spades safely to discard a diamond from his hand. Then he leads a heart to give up a trick to the king. The defenders can then get one club and one diamond.

South would make an over-trick if he tried the heart finesse, but he would go down if the finesse lost. The best chance is to get rid of a diamond before allowing the defenders to get their two diamond tricks.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one notrump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S 10 4 2; H 8 7; D A K 10 9 3; C K 5 4. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three notrump. Since you have 10 points, the combined count should be 26 to 28 points in high cards. This should be enough for nine tricks at notrump but may not be enough for eleven tricks at diamonds.

A bouquet of organdy rosebuds is fun to make. You will need a few pieces of fine spool wire, four or five strips of organdy (each four inches wide and eight inches long) and some green gummed tape for leaves and stems. The organdy may be pink, deep rose, yellow, bronze or white. You will also need some green organdy for leaves.

To form a rosebud, fold a strip of organdy along its length as in Figure 1. Roll it tightly (Figure 2). The open edge is to be the bottom of the flower and the folded edge is to be the top.

Wind some spool wire tightly around the bottom, leaving the neat little bouquet and tie it ends to serve as the flower with ribbon as the girl has done the top of the flower so it appears to consist of slightly open petals.

When you have shaped the bouquet, wind some of the wire around the base of the flower, covering the base with embroidery to hankies, green gummed tape around the towels, scars.

Bonanza! 32 motifs to decorate coil of spool wire, then wind it like lines galore. Lots of down the wire stem. This variety in stitches — fascinating operation is shown in Figure 3.

Secret Service to Make More Investigations

Big Increase Is Expected in Field of Protective Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Secret Service plans a tremendous increase in the next few months in the number of protective investigations it conducts in protecting the President.

It is no secret that the service launched a major expansion and organization program shortly after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy — but details have been kept under wraps.

The budget which President Johnson sent to Congress Monday showed that the number of "protective research" cases is expected to increase from 1,978 fiscal year to 13,779 in the months which begins next April.

Potential Threats
"Protective research" involves investigations of persons whose background or actions indicate they may be potential threats to the President or other public figures.

The service completed 1,820 investigations in fiscal 1964.

The budget figures may be a tipoff that new data-processing equipment will be in operation in a few months. This would permit agents to conduct more investigations.

Modern electronic equipment would make it easier for the service to coordinate its efforts with those of the FBI and other agencies.

Lack of Liaison
The Warren Commission, investigating the assassination, criticized both the FBI and the service and it contended there was a lack of liaison between the two.

The budget shows little change in the expenditure for equipment for the service, but item labeled "other services" will rise from $170,000 this year to $338,000 in 1966.

The service expects some growth in counterfeiting cases, from 13,210 to 14,366, and in check violations, from 44,192 to 50,101, and total cases is expected to climb from 73,298 to 95,474.

The service's personnel for the next fiscal year is budgeted at 51, an increase of 18 per cent over two years. The total budget of $90,000 has grown 30 per cent over two years. This year's figure is $7,620,000.

Advances for Liberia Job
Barren Rehfeldt, 431½ Newview Drive, has left for Liberia, Africa, where he will be employed as a project engineer in the exploration and development of iron bearing deposits in the Bie Mountains.

He expects to be there from one to five months.

Lawrence Says: Johnson Has Warning for Labor, Business

Must Exert Influence
To Keep Wages,
Prices in Line

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — How long will the business boom last? While President Johnson, in his latest economic report to Congress, points to certain weaknesses, he nevertheless believes that these can be overcome and that property will continue for a long time.

Lawrence

But an examination of the President's words reveals that he is relying on unions to keep wages from rising too rapidly and on business not to increase prices too sharply. Mr. Johnson notes the upward trend in the economy, and then warns:

"But high levels of employment, production, and purchasing power cannot rest on a sound base if we are plagued by slow growth, inflation, or a lack of confidence in the dollar."

Mr. Johnson stresses the need for "price stability," and adds:

Asks Cooperation

"Federal budgetary and monetary policies must not permit a generalized excess of demand over supply to pull up prices. But, equally, private price and wage decisions must not push up costs and prices. I count on the sense of public responsibility of our labor leaders and our industrial leaders to do their full part to protect and extend our price stability."

Unfortunately, however, these exhortations which are being disregarded at the present time, because in industry after industry wage levels are going up, and there are also threats of price increases on a "selective" basis. This instability inevitably moves the economy toward inflation.

While the President outlined in detail what ought to be done, the administration is not applying pressure on the labor unions, though it is publicly giving intimations to business that price increases must be avoided.

No Devaluation

Perhaps the most significant step taken by the President to attain a financial equilibrium is in the monetary field. He has asked Congress to repeal the law which at present requires 25 per cent of federal reserve bank deposits to be backed by gold. It is stated positively that no devaluation of the gold price is being planned. If, however, devaluation should later be necessary, it will not be entirely because of domestic conditions in this country, but because of the impact of foreign factors, especially if some important country like Great Britain should devalue its currency.

Mr. Johnson says that his request for removal of the restrictions "does not arise from any sudden emergency." But it is apparent the administration believes the constant outflow of gold is already causing apprehension and might later force the repeat any of the 25 per cent gold-reserve requirement.

Mr. Johnson means while makes the flat statement that no devaluation of the gold content of the dollar is intended. He says:

"There can be no question of our capacity and determination to maintain the gold value of the dollar at $35 an ounce. The full resources of this nation are pledged to that end."

Can be Forced

Devaluation nevertheless can be forced upon the United States by external developments, just as it was in the 1930's when the gold content of the dollar was cut by 59 per cent and the price of gold went up from $20.67 an ounce to $35 an ounce, an increase of nearly 70 per cent.

One of the principal reasons why the United States has been experiencing a considerably outflow of gold is the foreign-aid program. Although the President has asked for only $3.4 billion for the coming fiscal year for foreign aid, there is an estimated $6.5 billion in unexpected balances from previous years. So almost $10 billion would be available for spending.

Adopted Son Kills Parents

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A 15-year-old boy walked into a police station in suburban Parkville Friday night and announced that he had killed the three other members of his family.

Baltimore County police who went to the scene discovered Melvin W. Knautz, 46; his wife, Elizabeth, 45; and their daughter, Carol, 11, shot to death on the first floor of their home.

Police said the body of Knautz was found lying in the kitchen. His wife's body was between the living room and dining room and the girl's body was in the living room of the 1½ story frame home.

They all had been shot repeatedly with a foreign make 38-caliber pistol.

in 1966 and later years. It is the presence of this unexpected balance which may be having a psychological effect on those who speculate in the gold market.

Like an Aspirin Tablet

Senator A. Willis Robertson, Democrat of Virginia, chairman of the Senate banking and currency committee, says a four-year study has shown that the "happiest man" removal of the gold-reserve requirement "will be in the nature of an aspirin tablet to deaden pain rather than a permanent solution," and points out that "we have the most favorable balance of trade of any nation in the world, but it is more than wiped out by the lavish program of lending and giving dollars throughout the world." He adds:

"I am sure the current boom will last throughout the coming year, especially in view of the stimulators the President is going to use in the event production slows down. But I'm afraid that the price to be paid for injecting so much borrowed money into the economy will be higher prices."

So the real story of what is going to happen to gold cannot be written as yet. Everybody hopes that the President's announced policy will have a beneficial effect. But, unfortunately, there are so many complex factors in the international picture that it is difficult to foretell whether the outflow of gold from the United States will be halted, especially if the spending and lending programs abroad are continued. Eventually, it may be necessary to restrict imports as well as exports.

Man in the Street May Differ With Sociologist in Chicago

BY FRANK S. JOSEPH

CHICAGO (AP) — Want to get happy in a hurry? It's simple, says a University of Chicago sociologist. All it takes is youth, money, success, good health and a wife.

Dr. Peter H. Rossi, 44, director of the University National Opinion Research Center says a four-year study has shown that the "happiest man" is young, wealthy, married, at the height of his powers — "he's the playboy of the Western world."

The study, based on thousands of personal interviews around the nation, also revealed that marriage, one of the wellsprings of happiness for a man, brings more unhappiness to women because of the tensions of bearing and rearing children.

Important Factors

The important happiness factors are money and age, Rossi said Monday in an interview.

"When you're young, you've got 15 or 20 years ahead of you to answer the question: 'What have I done?'" he said.

"But older people suffer chronic illness, loss of powers and vigor, an accumulation of desperation and disappointment. They don't have those years ahead of them."

"They say it constantly — "If I had my life to live over, I wouldn't make the same mistakes!"

And it's true money can buy happiness, Rossi said.

93 Cadets Listed Now as Resigned

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Resignations of 28 more cadets Friday raised to 93 the number caught in the ever-widening classroom cheating scandal at the Air Force Academy.

With the probe scheduled to continue at least to Feb. 10, the resignations already exceed the 90 cadets who quit the U.S. Military Academy at West Point in 1961 in a similar cribbing affair. Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert has said as many as 100 Air Force cadets might be involved, including 30 varsity football players.

Flames Rage in Bitter Cold

Families Left Homeless by Outbreak

The Fox Valley area has been hit by a series of home fires, as winter reached its bitterest point, and heating equipment was taxed to its limits.

Near Seymour, the rural farm home and belongings of William Bolson were destroyed Friday afternoon as firemen stood helpless, their equipment frozen.

The Bolsons were not home at the time of the fire, authorities said, and the cause of the blaze was unknown.

Two trucks

A pickup truck parked in the garage was destroyed, along with all the furnishings of the home, except a davenport which neighbors were able to drag from the burning building.

Seymour Fire Chief Earl Eick said the department took two trucks and a tanker because of the long distance. When they arrived, the pump on one of the trucks was frozen, and had to be thawed before firemen could work on saving a nearby barn and shed.

In Appleton, Mrs. Dale Cannon, a volunteer worker with the home service department of the American Red Cross, said she had received an appeal for bedding, clothing and furniture for the family.

Rented Home

Mrs. Cannon said the family, with four children, has found a vacant home, but has no belongings. She said contributions should be dropped off at Seymour City Hall.

Doctors Optimistic

Spunky Iola Gridder Waging Slow Recovery

IOLA — Randy Wright, the 17-year-old Iola-Scandinavia High School football player who has been hospitalized since Oct. 31 when he collapsed during a football game, is showing some improvement.

Taken to the St. Mary Hospital in Wausau after the accident, he underwent brain surgery to remove a blood clot and pressure.

Doctors now report Randy has shown constant improvement, and now is able to walk with the help of a walker and wheels a wheel chair by himself.

Visitors are still being discouraged and doctors are restricting the number of persons allowed in Randy's room because he is still suffering the serious effects of a head injury.

Mrs. Willard Wright, has remained at his bedside.

For the first six weeks following the operation Randy was in a coma. His condition is still described as being in a light coma, but he is able to talk more, and sometimes looks at newspapers, and is able to recognize people.

Doctors remain optimistic that soon, Randy will be well on his way to a full recovery but say he will be hospitalized for a long time.

Visitors are still being discouraged and doctors are restricting the number of persons allowed in Randy's room because he is still suffering the serious effects of a head injury.

Bethany Church Names Planning Committee

Group to Study Personnel, Financial Needs, Act in Advisory and Research Capacity

A long-range planning committee is being appointed at Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church to study facilities, personnel and financial needs of the church.

Bethany voters authorized the board of trustees to appoint the planning committee at the annual meeting.

The committee will begin its work with a study of expanding present educational facilities and enlarging the present Bible school staff.

The function of this committee will be to act in a research, forecast and advisory capacity. Its analysis will be used to project growth and needs from a period beyond the current year to an indefinite number of years.

The committee's program will center around a detailed project.

Insurance Firm's Coverage Hiked During Past Year

FOREST JUNCTION — Policy holders of Equity Town Mutual Insurance Co., at their 53rd annual meeting here Thursday, learned that extended coverage, voted in 1963, more than doubled during its second year.

Risk in that classification is listed at $1,304,740 in the 1964 report. Insurance against fire, lightning and artificial electrocution is listed at $23,204,440 as of Dec. 31, 1964.

Losses paid in 1964 amounted to $43,573.97, compared to $64,606.20 the previous year. The company operates in Brown, Calumet, Manitowoc and Outagamie counties.

Oscar Ott, vice president, and Clifford J. McHugh, secretary-treasurer, were re-elected to the board of directors for three years. Marvin Manti, Town of Cicero, Outagamie County, was appointed to the board to fill the term of Emil Jentz of Town of Ellington which expires in 1966.

Minister Is Lobbyist In State of Washington

BY DALE NELSON

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Like any other lobbyist at the state legislature, he meets with lawmakers, carries a legislative program in his briefcase, and makes periodic reports to his employers.

But the Rev. Paul Beeman is a lobbyist with a difference, as his title suggests.

His Answer

The Rev. Mr. Beeman, a Methodist minister in Seattle, is on loan from the Washington-Northern Idaho Council of Churches as legislative representative during the Washington legislative session.

The presence of Mr. Beeman in Olympia among the politicians, influence-seekers and various special interest groups raises some questions," said Washington-Lane Smith, religion editor of the Seattle Times. "Some question whether the church should get into politics."

The Rev. Mr. Beeman answers this way:

"If the church doesn't take an interest in the corporate lives of men, who will? If Jesus were alive in America today, he might very well have run for the legislature."

Although this is the first time the council has had a registered lobbyist here, the Seattle clergymen says "This isn't the first time the church has been officially represented in Olympia."

Support Is Claimed for Lottery Bill

Resolution to Remove Ban to Be Introduced

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Assemblyman Thomas M. Schaus, D-Milwaukee, says he has some Democratic backing and will seek Republican support for a proposal to establish a Wisconsin state lottery with the proceeds to go to education.

Schaus said Friday a bill to establish the lottery, similar to the one in New Hampshire, would be offered in the Legislature next week. He said he also had prepared for introduction a resolution that would remove the constitutional ban on lotteries.

Lotteries and all other forms of gambling are illegal in Wisconsin. Approval by two legislatures and by voters in a referendum would be needed to change the constitutional prohibition on gambling.

Schaus, a lawyer who is in his first legislative term, said he has lined up about 15 Democrats as co-authors of the lottery bill. He said the bill will meet with Republican assemblymen
Tuesday in an attempt to get GOP support for the proposal.

He said his plan provides that all proceeds from the lottery would go to education, in the form of grants to local school districts on a per-pupil basis.
The lottery, he said, would help keep property taxes down.

Under the proposal, each locality would vote on permitting the sale of lottery tickets at $3 each. Amounts paid out to winners would not exceed $200,000 a year. The lottery would be supervised by a three-member commission named by the governor and confirmed by the Senate.

Schaus said New Hampshire's first lottery last year raised $3 million and saved each taxpayer $24. He said a lottery in Wisconsin would not require a horse race track, which New Hampshire has, but could be based on an out-of-state sporting event.

City Attorney's Report Ruled as A 'Public Record'

WAUKESHA (AP) — Circuit
Judge Clair Voss ruled Thursday that the report of a city attorney investigating alleged police brutality was public record and open to scrutiny by citizens and the news media.

The ruling was made in a suit brought by Henry A. Youmans, publisher of the Waukesha Freeman, against Mayor Harold T. Owens, who had refused to show the report to newsmen in December 1963.

City officials insisted that the report showed no disciplinary action was warranted against officers involved.

City Atty. John Buckley, who made the investigation, said the decision was made on whether apart from protecting the visitors to the State Supreme Court, the special branch men were on the watch

Terrors Rout North To Gain Revenge

Kaukauna Fights Off Late Neenah Rally to Record 64-59 Victory

BY ED VAN BERKEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — While temperatures outside plummeted, the Galloping Ghosts were blistering the nets at an unofficial 46 per cent here Saturday night as they rolled to a 64-59 Mid-Eastern Conference win.

Kaukauna had to be hot as the Neenah Rockets were almost as dead from the floor hitting on slightly better than 40 per cent of their shots. The win evens up Kaukauna's M-E record at 4-4 and avenges an earlier 62-57 loss to Neenah. The Rockets also have a 4-4 conference record.

Kaukauna was never headed in the game although Neenah staged a strong rally in the final period to pull to within one point. Mike Andrews opened the scoring for the Ghosts in the opening seconds and a free throw by Mike Gallenberg put Kaukauna ahead, 3-0.

Dave Koepke hit the first basket for Neenah with 2½ minutes gone in the game, but Wayne Steinbach matched the effort for Kaukauna. The Rockets were trying slow, deliberate basketball and had several passes intercepted as Kaukauna rolled to a 10-point lead.

Don Biselz, who paced the scoring for the winners, scored the last eight points in the period for Kaukauna as the winners took a 15-4 advantage. Pete Kuehl hit two baskets and

Indians Upset Clintonville in M-E Tilt, 76-65

Shawano Scores 23 Straight Points After Trailing, 15-2

SHAWANO — Shawano's High School Indians poured in an amazing total of 23 straight points to overtake favored Clintonville, 76-65, Friday night in a Mid-Eastern Conference encounter.

Trailing, 15-2, after six minutes of play, the Indians held the Truckers scoreless for over six minutes while zipping to a 25-15 advantage. The Truckers contributed to their own downfall by missing 13 consecutive shots.

From this point on, the Truckers could never come close to Shawano. The halftime score was 34-24, and the third period margin was 57-40 in favor of the Indians. The biggest lead of the night for the homeowners came in the third period at 55-31.

The injury-riddled Indians, who rolled up 12 straight victories before bowing to Northern Illinois earlier this week, were humbled 84-76 by Illinois Tech Friday night in another non-conference encounter in La Crosse.

ILLINOIS TECH Triumphs Over La Crosse, 84-76

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

La Crosse State, the defending State University Conference champion, is convinced a combination of the injury bug and Illinois basketball foes is too much to overcome.

The injury-riddled Indians, who rolled up 12 straight victories before bowing to Northern Illinois earlier this week, were humbled 84-76 by Illinois Tech Friday night in another non-conference encounter in La Crosse.

In other games, Beloit posted a 76-65 Midwest Conference victory over Carleton, Lakeland chalked up its eighth straight triumph by defeating Chicago Teachers 10-96, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee was walloped 96-72 by Montana State and Dominican of Racine edged Concordia of Milwaukee 62-60.

apiece for Winneconne, which outrebounded Bear Creek, 73-17.

The Nickels also led their team in scoring. Tom had 23 and Jim,

Nickel's output of 17 points, and

Allen scored 8. Darrell Zitske was the only Bear Creek cager to hit double figures, with 18.

Omro used a zone press to advantage against the Polar

Bears. It forced several turnovers on the part of Hortonville in the crucial fourth period.

After one period of play the score was knotted at 14-14.

Omro gained a 37-34 halftime advantage and then added two more points to the lead in each of the two tightly-fought second half stanzas. The Foxes' Dick

Snyder canned 24, Jeff Stang 23, and Mike Engstrom, 17. Horton-

23. Charles Mulroy scored 15.

Reedsburg controlled the boards 37-26, including 12 by Gary Pautz, and jumped off to a large 22-10 lead on Shiocton

after the first quarter. Reeds-burg shot 45 per cent from the floor, swishing 36 of 80 at-

Trout and Pheasant Stamps

The Wisconsin Conservation Department has done a rather poor job over the years in attempting to sell the idea of a special $2 stamp for trout fishermen. This year it has proposed to the legislature that there should also be a $2 stamp for pheasant hunters.

The state proposals are designed after the federal duck stamp required of all waterfowl hunters. But there is a significant difference. The proceeds of the federal stamp sale are earmarked for the acquisition and improvement of waterfowl nesting and feeding areas in the United States. The Conservation Department has refused to earmark proceeds of either a trout or pheasant stamp exclusively for the improvement of trout fishing or pheasant hunting.

It is conceded by all concerned that the planting of trout and pheasants for put-and-take fishing or hunting is a very expensive proposition. The pheasant is an imported bird, and while it has caught on and reproduced in the wild in states like the Dakotas and Iowa and Nebraska, there is very little range in Wisconsin suitable for the bird. Pheasants simply do not go with dairy farming, in which the corn fields are cut each fall for silage and the land plowed in many cases before winter sets in.

Heart Disease Research

The heart and blood vessel diseases are a family problem:

- 30,000 to 40,000 newborn infants each year have congenital heart defects;
- More than 500,000 school-age children are victims of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease which it frequently causes;
- Women account for the majority of the nation's 5 million cases of high blood pressure and are vulnerable to many other forms of cardiovascular disease, besides;
- Among adult men, especially in the middle-aged, heart attack is the largest single killer;
- Among people over 65, major health threats are heart attack, which causes 380,000 deaths a year, and stroke, 160,000.

Sex Information Council Formed

A new national voluntary health organization has been put together, it was announced at a news conference held by Dr. Mary Calderone, a founder and now executive director. The Sex Information and Education Council of the United States will aim at helping Americans understand and use sex meaningfully, according to Dr. Calderone.

At first glance, it may appear that there is quite enough conversation and publicity about sex in the nation today. And yet this may be exactly the problem—not that the subject is out in the open but that the fairly recently developed lack of inhibition regarding sex has contributed to perversion and misunderstanding and certainly problems relating to individual health.

"There is uneasiness and unhappiness and fear with relation to sex," said Dr. Calderone. "There's a tremendous amount of confusion about sex and its uses and purposes—all the way from those who think sex is simply for fun to those who think it is so holy one should never have it."

We would like to help children and young people and adults realize that sex is a means of communication, a means of expressing a sense of beauty and love of life and of joy. It has been a source of inspiration to poets, writers and artists. It can be a tremendous source of comfort in moments of pain."

Some observers have claimed that there is a sexual revolution going on in the United States in this decade. Statistics have shown the rise in the number of illegitimate babies born to teen-age mothers and the increase in teenage marriages in which sex may be a determining factor with or without an early pregnancy. The concern on college campuses has centered

There are many trout fishermen who would support a stamp plan if the proceeds were pledged for use in a stream improvement program which would eventually restore natural spawning conditions in state streams. But few real trout fishermen wish to contribute funds to support the put-and-take program.

The Conservation Department in its budget presentation said it needs the proceeds of these stamp sales to help finance its overall program on the present scale. It added that if the stamp programs are not approved it will have to reduce some services. Some legislators have wondered aloud whether all those services are really necessary, including the artificial raising of trout and pheasants.

The department feels that it must continue the planting programs to satisfy a large army of hunters and fishermen. Without the pheasant program, Director Lester Voigt says, the state's public hunting grounds would only be a place for a lonely walk.

We are not so sure he is right. We believe a great many people in the state would support the department in an accelerated program of habitat improvement, utilizing the funds now allocated to artificial propagation. It is a policy question which the legislature might well face this session.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.
(AP)—Just 20 years ago Allied armies were closing in on the German heartland and squeezing out into the open those fever blisters of war, the refugees.

Two decades later, the face of the earth is still pocked with these fever blisters.

The U. S. Committee for Refugees puts the total today at nearly 8 million, dispersed in nearly 50 countries in every continent.

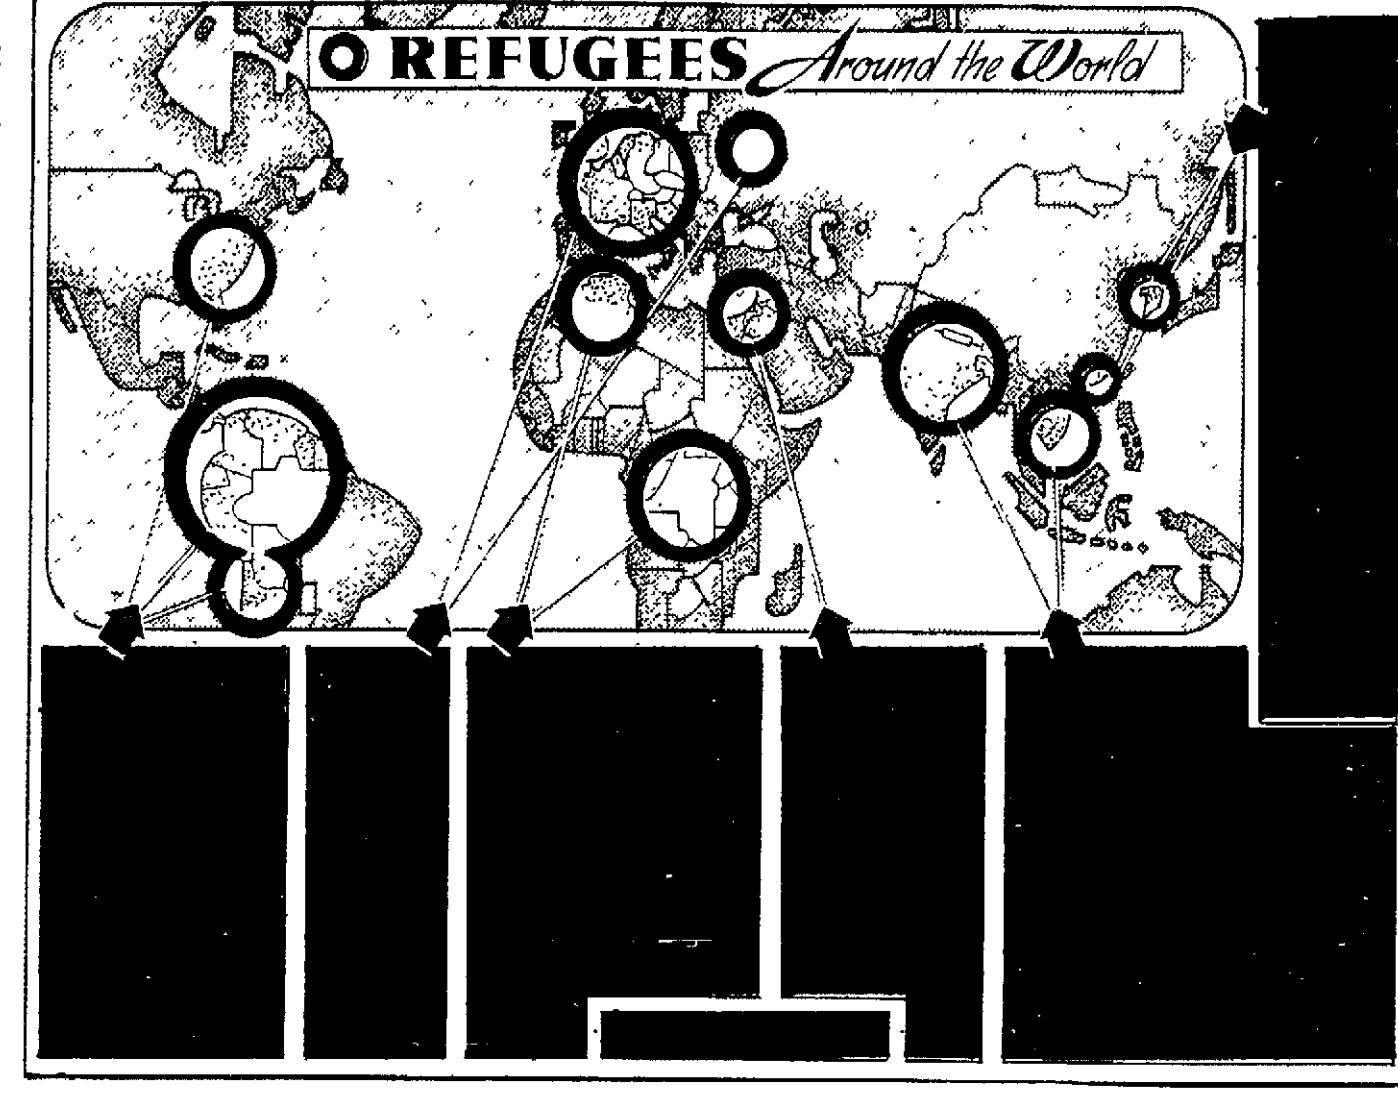

In early 1945 the "D.P.'s"—displaced persons—poured from camps where the enemy had taken them. The little people of France and the Low Countries, the Slavs and the Greeks and those from the Balkans, all brought to Germany as slave labor. There were Jews and others, from Germany and elsewhere, liberated from extermination camps by Americans, British and French troops.

GERMANS GO HOME

Most Germans made it home to the rubble left by war. The others had to wait. But organization finally came in the form of the First International Refugee Organization (IRO). Later it was the Intergovernmental Committee (ICEM), and finally the United Nations, which appointed a high commissioner to take over the work of the IRO. Voluntary church and charity groups assisted in this work.

The success of this effort is measured by the fact that ICEM has resettled about 1.3 million European refugees since 1952. Only a few thousand hard-core cases—aged and ailing—remain to be cared for.

With them, however, have grown up two new groups looking for a new life somewhere else in the world—the recent refugee-escapees and the families of breadwinners who had emigrated on their own years ago.

ICEM had a budget of $21.6 million in 1964 for transporting and resettling 70,500 migrants, about 33,000 of them classified as refugees.

The U. N. High Commissioner for Refugees, working with the ICEM has found new homes for 32,783 refugees since 1951, but still has 30,200 refugees, of whom 1,900 were still in camps at the beginning of 1954.

Meantime, he was plagued with the problem of 150,000 refugees from Rwanda who had streamed into Burundi and the Congo; with the fate of 1.5 million refugees from Red China in Hong Kong; another million from North Korea, and more than 2 million in India from East Pakistan and Tibet.

WORKS WIT CUBANS

The High Commissioner also works with the United States and Latin American governments in dealing with the problems of Cuban refugees.

Between January 1961 and March 1964, more than 172,000 Cubans fleeing Castro had registered at the Cuban Refugee Center in Miami.

The Palestine refugee problem, with more than 1 million displaced persons in camps and towns of four Arab countries, is handled by the United Nations Relief and Works Agency (UNRWA).

Financing of all these programs is by voluntary contributions. Nearly 50 religious, welfare and charity organizations in the United States contribute heavily. The United States government has poured more than $705 million into the United Nations and various international governmental organizations. Still, refugees are scattered across the world.

Democratic Grumbling Over Knowles Safety Plan Puzzling

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The declared skepticism of some of the legislature's Democrats as well as influential outside forces toward the state administration's carefully wrought highway safety legislation is as surprising to the sideliner as it is undoubtedly disappointing to Gov. Knowles as chief sponsor.

Wyngaard

On the one hand, the spoken criticism probably reflects the lingering resentment among Democrats about the unhappy fate of former Gov. Reynolds' highway improvement program a year ago. On the other, some of the outside criticism appears to relate to the pride of authorship of others in the highway safety problem solutions.

There has developed, for example, a powerful belief that the surest and quickest way to improve the highway accident record is to put a big corps of additional state policemen on the highways. Gov. Knowles appears hesitant about that, almost surely because he is practical enough elimination program scheduled for the coming Feb. 12 at the armory.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Jan. 29, 1955.

Nine students of St. John High School, Little Chute, were named to the all-school honor roll for "A" scholastic averages. They included Carol Coenen, June Ebbens, Delores Reiden, Nadine Sprangers, Joyce Van Boxtel, Marian Vandenberg, Robert Vandenburg, Willard Verbrick and Nancy Weverberg.

Mrs. Charles Schaffer was elected president of the Kaukauna Central Labor Union Auxiliary. Other officers elected were Mrs. Robert Walker, vice president; Mrs. Clarence Sullivan, secretary; Mrs. Cliff Beahm, treasurer; Mrs. Anna Besaw, guard; Mrs. Joseph Von Vonderen, conductor; Mrs. Wilmer Parker, Mrs. Helen Lau and Mrs. James Agran, trustees.

Seven new officers were elected by the Appleton-Tops Club with Mrs. Steve Meidam president, Mrs. William Ahrens, vice president; Mrs. Vernon Krueger, secretary; Mrs. George Kauth, treasurer; Mrs. Reuben Fox, weight recorder; Mrs. Esther Conrad, weigher; Mrs. Rayfield Schneider, reporter.

Elmer R. Honkamp was seated that week as president of the Appleton Exchange Club. He succeeded S. F. Sherrick. Leo J. Murphy was installed as vice president and Edward Thomas secretary-treasurer. Members of the board included new members Thomas, Edward Brunner and Gordon Haase; holdover members Raymond J. Treiber, Maury S. Allen and C. C. Bailey.

Leslie Holzer, who had arranged amateur boxing cards for Oney Johnston Post American Legion, for years, was named the official matchmaker for the Golden Gloves to recognize the dangerous opposition of the local police establishments and their jealous fear of state police expansion. He has said that he prefers to set up machinery to knock the state and local police heads together in the cause of cooperation in the field. In the event such a coordination fails, he will have no alternative but state enforcement arm, he has said.

GOOD FAITH

At issue is the governor's good faith. It is not especially surprising that he wants to avoid a showdown with the potent local police. None of his predecessors chose to be especially heroic in that regard. But, unlike other governors, he has prescribed a method for achieving the cooperation and integration of the state and local efforts that apparently cannot be had without such outside pressure. His proposal is clear if it fails he is committed to the more direct course of expanding the state constabulary. A period of six months should show the course he will ultimately pursue, and six months may be a reasonable period of testing of an approach to a question that has long hung over legislative politics like a cloud for more than a decade.

The Democratic grumbling about the Knowles safety program is more a matter of form than substance. The most formidable of his propositions, ranging from probationary licenses for first time drivers to stern new penalties for youthful drivers, implied consent for intoxication tests for all vehicle operators, a minimum age for beer drinking that would be consistent throughout Wisconsin, mandatory revocation for high speed driving, and compulsory inspection of motor vehicles annually, represents in any fair analysis the most drastic effort for resolving the scandalous highway accident rate that any politician has ever proposed in Wisconsin.

ROAD BUILDING

A Democratic complaint is that the governor doesn't mention improved road building as a contribution to safety.

There are two answers. First, he has already declared that he is preparing a separate message on highway construction.

Second, the governor cannot ignore, even if his rivals would tempt him to do so, the resounding vote of last April against higher auto user taxes which is the only feasible way in which a substantially increased program of highway building can be arranged, even if the politically doubtful method of bonding is assumed.

No doubt the Republicans in the legislature who sent the Reynolds bonding scheme to a popular referendum a year ago believed—or even hoped—that it would get an adverse verdict from the electorate. No doubt also even the Republican partisans who wanted such a defeat were surprised at the thunderous margin.

Yet the record is in. Eighty-five per cent of the voters who expressed themselves voted against higher taxes and road debt. It would be a foolish politician, indeed, who would defy such evidence. Prudence requires Knowles to devise some other method of speeding road construction, if he can.

GOOD FAITH

At issue is the governor's good faith. It is not especially surprising that he wants to avoid a showdown with the potent local police. None of his predecessors chose to be especially heroic in that regard.

But, unlike other governors, he has prescribed a method for achieving the cooperation and integration of the state and local efforts that apparently cannot be had without such outside pressure. The Stamp craze has gone completely haywire. If there is anything which they do not give trading stamps for nowadays, it's either completely out-of-date, or it's so new, they haven't gotten around to it yet.

As for us! We have no doubt after very sly and careful observance—that the little Missus would have no qualms whatsoever on trading us in—if the number of "free" stamps is right!

Blue Trading Stamp Blues

Surely by now, someone somewhere, somehow, has had perfect attendance in Sunday School and been rewarded with a bunch of purple, green, yellow, or strawberry trading stamps.

The Stamp craze has gone completely haywire. If there is anything which they do not give trading stamps for nowadays, it's either completely out-of-date, or it's so new, they haven't gotten around to it yet.

Scotch Whiskey Via Japan

A new type of spiritual pressure, a MacNippon-type Scotch whiskey (made—where else?—in Japan) is awaiting distilling circles in the land of Robert Burns. This threat, or cloud on the horizon "no longer now than a rising sun," has yet to mature after being generated by the moving thought that Japan has the ideal misty, soft-palate conditions for distilling on one of its northern islands.

Currently, the Japanese are just discovering the real stuff, importing 41 per cent more last year. However, after what the Japanese have done with cameras and the toy market, no one would bet heavily against their chances of success should they set out seriously to develop a Mount Fuji blend to compete with the Scotch-made product.

No Manufacturer

Not surprisingly the attorney drew up all-encompassing patents to protect his invention. He received his first patent in 1940, but could not persuade any manufacturer to build and market the machines. Finally, in 1944, the Battelle Memorial Institute, of Columbus, Ohio, agreed to develop the process in return for a share in the royalties.

Electrostatic copying of information that needs to be duplicated is fast, easy, and economical. By pushing a button, a secretary can make an exact copy of almost anything. The machines require so little effort and skill that a company experimental taught a chimpanzee to operate one. The cost per copy is only a few cents. Most important of all, stenographers are freed from speed-typing chores.

The method does not require any pressure on the paper or other material. Hence it can be adapted to such unlikely surfaces as a potato, a cotton ball, a pill, or the yolk of a raw egg.

Invented by Patent Lawyer Xerography, or dry writing, is probably the most popular electrostatic process, the National Geographic Society points out. Its inventor, Chester Carlson, was working as a patent attorney when he noticed how much trouble it was to make copies of patents. In 1935, he began trying to find an effortless way to reproduce documents. Since several large companies were already experimenting with chemical processes, he turned to static electricity.

Static Electricity Sparks Copying Boom

WASHINGTON — Static electricity, which makes hair crackle under a comb, has sparked a worldwide copying boom.

Electrostatic copying of information that needs to be duplicated is fast, easy, and economical. By pushing a button, a secretary can make an exact copy of almost anything. The machines require so little effort and skill that a company experimental taught a chimpanzee to operate one. The cost per copy is only a few cents. Carlson was experimenting in a room behind a beauty parlor in Astoria, Long Island, when he finally made xeroxing work. Using a cotton handkerchief and a sulfur-coated aluminum plate, he successfully transferred the notation "10-22-38 Astoria" to the dark areas of the image to be reproduced.

'American Sportsman' Filmed in Kenya
During Summer Uprisings in Africa

ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD—"Africa, land of strange contrasts. . . ." The old travelogue narrators would have a rather sticky time in what went on in Africa late last summer. While terror reigned around Stanleyville, an ABC-TV camera crew in Kenya, 10 miles to the east, went on a big game hunt with actor Robert Stack and Joe Foss, Marine war hero and now commissioner of American Football League.

Tim of the gun and camera safari under the title "The American Sportsman" will be seen as a four-part ABC-TV special, premiering on Sunday. In the opening show, Stack, a former U.S. skeet shooting champion, hunts and kills a huge lion.

He is an expert marksman, the movie and TV star had never seen anything larger than a jackal, not counting, of course, those gangsters he shot up in Untouchables.

And, he tells you, "I must use. That heavy breathing of mine on the sound track wasn't acting. Brother, I was SCARED."

Five local white hunters with a fleet of five Land Rovers and six trucks guided the intrepid pair into the jungle where most of the exciting film was shot by Jim (Hatari) Craig with a hand-held camera, reports Stack.

No Retakes

"And part of the excitement for me," he can grin now, "was because we were on a one-shot deal — no retakes. At one point, when we had the lion cornered, our sound broke down and we had to wait it out for 45 minutes. Believe me, it's quite an experience being stuck for 45 minutes with only a couple of bushes between you and a lion."

The Big Three of big game hunts — a lion, a buffalo and an elephant — were tracked down and shot for the show, "but," says Stack, "we didn't kill just for the sake of the show. All three animals were marked for extinction by Kenya's head game warden, who accompanied us. The lion was feeding on native cattle and the elephant, we hunts have been around an old one, had lost its tusks."

The hunt was catered by a Nairobi safari firm, "but I don't think we matched the luxury of one Hollywood company I heard about which made a movie in the same area," Stack laughed.

"I was told that the star of the movie demanded — and got — the immediacy of an air-conditioned tent with elements captured through and get this — a star on the tent microphones which all of tent's door flap."

Wesleyan Methodist Evangelistic Services Planned for Weekend

A series of special evangelistic and musical services are being held at Wesleyan Methodist Church this weekend.

The Rev. Loring Peterson, former president of the Wisconsin Wesleyan Methodist Church, and his family from Waukesha will present the Gospel in music, song and sermon in services at 7 p.m. today and Sunday and at 10:45 a.m. Sunday.

Organ and piano combinations of sacred music, trios and solos will be part of each service.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson until recently served as president of the Wisconsin Wesleyan Methodist Church, a post he held for 10 years. Mrs. Peterson and her accompanist, Miss Irene Manker, are daughters of the Rev. Dayton A. Manker, pastor of the local church.

The meetings are open to the public. The church is at 2415 N. Drew St.

3 Education Courses Being Offered Teachers At UW Valley Center

Registrations will be at 6:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday at the Fox Valley Center of the University of Wisconsin for three education courses for teachers and professional social workers.

Techniques in guidance and counseling and human abilities and learning will be offered Mondays and a course on the exceptional child or Tuesdays. All are three credit courses.

Ronald Gray, assistant to the director of the center, is coordinator for the courses.

Courses on audio visual instruction, mental retardation, and curriculum of elementary school physical education are being offered at Green Bay.

Articles by Lawrence Faculty Members in Professional Journals

Two Lawrence University faculty members have written articles which are appearing in scholarly magazines.

Dr. Harold Schneider, associate professor of anthropology, has written "A Model of African Indigenous Economy and Society" which appears in the fall issue of Comparative Studies in Society and History. The journal has its editorial offices at the University of Michigan, but is printed by Mouton and Co., The Hague, Netherlands. Reprints of the article have also been made.

Prof. Charles M. Brooks of the Lawrence art department, has written "Preparatory Architectural Education on the College Level as Offered at Lawrence University in Appleton," for the January issue of the Wisconsin Architect, a publication generally underwritten by the American Institute of Architects. Accompanying the illustrated article were accounts of architectural training offered by Laton Art School and the Milwaukee Institute of Technology.

Actually, you're thinking in terms of a $1200 to $1500 wedding. The amount you spend on wedding clothes, photographs, and flowers will put the total cost at the low or high figure of that range. Since you and your fiance are paying for everything together, I'll just list the following items to be included with it.

Live Within Your Income

Some Costs Easily Missed In Planning Large Wedding

BY MARY FEELEY

Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

Will you please advise me on how to budget a wedding for a hundred guests at a restaurant? The reception is $800 all told, but what about the photographs, church, invitations, etc.?

My fiance and I are paying for everything together.

Another big problem that has arisen is that my mother and father are separated. My father is still living, but I don't know where. I'm not inviting him to my wedding because of this, so how do I have the invitations printed?

R. M., Flushing, N.Y.

Dear R. M.:

I assume you have the reception details and costs all settled. But don't you assume anything? Do you have an itemized list of what that $800 is to cover? Does it take care of music, food, beverages, wedding cake? If, for instance, music is not provided and you would like it at the reception, you might have to allow an extra $150 to $200 for a small band, depending on when the reception is held and how long it lasts.

Actually, you're thinking in terms of a $1200 to $1500 wedding. The amount you spend on wedding clothes, photographs, and flowers will put the total cost at the low or high figure of that range. Since you and your fiance are paying for everything together, I'll just list the following items to be included with it.

I agree you have a rather sticky problem, in wording the invitations. Normally, in the case of separated parents, the invitations are issued in the name of both. If the parents are divorced, it's customary and proper for the mother of the bride alone to invite the guests. However, since you don't even know where your father is, and can't invite him to the wedding, you may consider your parents in the "divorced" category and use only your mother's name on the invitations. One etiquette authority says she advised a luncheon at 6 p.m. Tuesday at Hammen's Restaurant.

Dear Miss Feeley:

Could you please give me some information as to where my son could apply for work. He had an eye operation which made him very near-sighted. He has a family of two daughters and wife. They need help very much as they want to be self-supporting.

M.S.D., "East Coast"

Dear M.S.D.:

I feel sure your son can get help through your local State Office of Vocational Rehabilitation. This service has been set up for the benefit of people who have disabilities resulting from disease, injuries, or congenital conditions. The program prepares them for work and helps them obtain the kind of employment especially suited for their individual abilities and limitations.

Your son's case can be referred to this State Office by a physician, welfare agency, hospital, health agency, educational institution or State Employment service. However self-referrals and those originating with the family or friends receive equal attention. In fact, it is estimated that more than 20 per cent of the applications for vocational rehabilitation come from these personal sources. So your son can present his own case, or you could do it for him.

Opposition Appears To Partitioning of Foreign Aid Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said today he is "unanimously opposed" to splitting the foreign aid bill into two parts.

His counterpart, Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, announced Thursday he would not act as Senate floor manager for the bill this year.

It was understood Fulbright's decision was based on the administration's rejection of his call for separating the bill into separate measures for economic aid and military aid to foreign countries.

Preliminary Sales Agreement for Menasha Utility to Go to Council

MENASHA — A proposal is cash in two ways — first to an escrow agent so that funds may be held to pay off bonds on the current debt of the municipal utility and the balance to the local municipal electric utility.

Both the ordinance and the preliminary agreement state the firm, should it purchase the municipal utility, will maintain and operate the present plant and hire and keep all its employees.

The preliminary agreement also is subject to the right of the city to terminate the agreement at any time prior to a date of closing. Needed is a majority vote of the council and at least three days prior written notice.

Should the sales offer be accepted, the issue then would be put to a referendum of the city as provided by state statute.

Lawrence Gets $16,500 From Three Grants

Science Awards to Boost University's Facilities, Programs

Lawrence University has been the recipient of three foundation grants totaling $16,500 for work in the sciences.

The DuPont Co. has given $5,000 for advancing teaching; the Shell Companies Foundation, Inc., has given $1,500 for the professional development of individual faculty members; and Wilkie Brothers Foundation, Des Plaines, Ill., has given $10,000 for shop equipment in the Casper E. Youngchild Hall of Science.

The DuPont award, of which $2,500 is designated for chemistry and $2,500 for other subjects important in the education of scientists and engineers, was part of a national program in which more than $1,800,000 was given to 167 educational institutions.

The Shell program, in which Lawrence is represented for the eighth time, in part allows faculty members to attend professional society meetings, personal research and publication of the results, and travel in the interests of scholarship. It has been assigned to mathematics, physics and chemistry.

The Wilkie Brothers Foundation gift will enable Lawrence to purchase a precision surface grinding machine, hand tools, instruments and other measuring devices as well as repairs to existing equipment. Dr. J. Bruce Brackenridge, chairman of the physics department, was liaison officer for the award.

Congregationalists OK Building Group

Executive Committee to Seek Site For $750,000 Church Facility

A proposal to establish a church building executive committee and proceed with planning for a new church on a new site was accepted unanimously by the congregation of the First Congregational Church (United Church of Christ) at its 114th annual meeting Thursday.

The long-range planning committee, which recommended the building program, was authorized to proceed immediately with selection of a new site. A site may be presented to the congregation for its consideration within a month, according to Rev. Edward C. Dahl, minister.

It is hoped a new church and educational facilities can be completed within three to four years, the Rev. Mr. Dahl said today. Construction costs are estimated to be $750,000, he said.

Renamed Moderator

John Rosebush, re-elected church moderator, will appoint the church building executive committee soon to replace the long-range planning committee, headed by William E. Schubert.

A special citation was presented to Mrs. Edward F. Douglass Jr., who has completed eight years on the board of directors of the United Church of Christ Board for World Ministries. She served for the last three years as chairman of the board's personnel committee. She cannot be re-elected after serving two four-year terms. The citation from the church and the board was presented as a surprise by Arnold Evans, chairman of the Christian world mission board.

The congregation voted to request ordination later this year by the Northeast Wisconsin Association of the United Church of Christ for Henry W. Bruner, University of Chicago Divinity School student, who spent last year here as an intern.

Heart Fund Drive Kick-Off Set for Kaukauna Area

KAUKAUNA — The '65 Kaukauna Heart Fund drive will have a kick-off meeting at the Elks Club, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Dr. David Grunwaldt announced that the Heart Sunday block captains and workers will receive instructions in the solicitation of their areas. Mrs. Donald Green, Heart Sunday chairman, urged attendance to make the drive a success.

Herbert Schuelke, business chairman, will also give the business workers their solicitation kits at that time. A film on heart research, "Of Men and Minds," will be shown. Dr. W. W. Wolfmeyer will discuss the current trend in heart disease and answer questions from the audience.

Vision Screening Underway in Schools

KAUKAUNA — Vision screening is being carried out in all elementary schools with volunteers conducting the program under the direction of Mrs. Mary Yingling, city nurse.

Children failing to pass the original test are rechecked by the nurse and those failures are asked to be checked by a doctor through a letter to parents. "Volunteers devote much time and patience to the screening of the school children, contributing greatly to the success of this phase of the school health program which so many benefit," stated the nurse.

Fox Tractor Gives Tours

Appleton Firm Is Host to 285 Dealers Midwest Distributors

Over 200 Mid-West dealers and 85 international distributors of the Fox River Tractor Co. of Appleton were guests here this week for sales meetings and a tour of the firm's new facilities.

The firm paid all expenses including transportation for the conferences.

Features of the 1965 models, new products, sales promotion, national advertising program and company services were discussed by the dealer Monday.

Dealers attended from Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, Illinois and Minnesota.

Distributors meeting Friday were from all parts of the U.S. and Canada.

Fox Tractor has over 300 employees and operates in three shifts to accommodate increased production at their new plant at U.S. 41 and 10.

"It is the desire of the park board to set the groundwork for these projected plans, or, at least have authorization to go ahead, if such funds become available," Wachtendonk wrote the mayor.

Waupaca Old Time Auto Club Elects Officers for 1965

WAUPACA — Officers were members toured the Wild Rose Fish Hatchery, the Circle "A" Ranch above Big Falls, and the New London City Park. They also participated in fairs and parades in the county.

The next meeting will be ladies night at the home of Jerry Reek, Weyauwega, March 11. Anyone interested in additional information on the club vote.

The 10:30 a.m. meeting will replace the two normally scheduled worship services. Absentee ballots will be available Friday, in the 500 block of Division Street. A car operated for the concert choir.

Members of the building committee are Clarence Theis, chairman, Harold Lindell, Walter Haase, police said. Icy waukeee, where she will major in music education.

Carl D. Kriesel, 28, 227 High Ave., Oshkosh, and Thomas J. Langenberg, 21, 1234 Maple St., both driving cars south on Commercial Street collided when the Kriesel car attempted to make a right turn onto Peckham Street as the Langenberg vehicle was passing on the right, police said. The accident occurred at 10:05 p.m. Friday.

Susan C. Mertz, 782 Reed St., backed a car from a private drive on E. Cecil Street and collided with a car parked on the opposite side of the street.

The parked car belonged to Joseph O. Reichl, Wausau. The accident occurred at 1:10 a.m. today.

Doctors Optimistic

Spunky Iola Gridder Waging Slow Recovery

IOLA — Randy Wright, the 17-year-old Iola-Scandinavia High School football player who has been hospitalized since Oct. 31 when he collapsed during a football game is showing some improvement.

Taken to the St. Mary Hospital in Wausau after the accident, he underwent brain surgery to remove a blood clot and pressure.

Doctors now report Randy has shown constant improvement, and now is able to walk with the help of a walker and wheels a wheel chair by himself.

Throughout his long period of hospitalization his mother, Mrs. Willard Wright, has remained at his bedside.

For the first six weeks following the operation Randy was in a coma. His condition is still described as being in a light coma, but he is able to talk more, and sometimes looks at newspapers, and is able to recognize people.

Doctors remain optimistic, that soon, Randy will be well on his way to a full recovery but say he will be hospitalized for a long time.

Visitors are still being discouraged and doctors are restricting the number of persons allowed in Randy's room because he is still suffering the serious effects of a head injury.
